SENATE BILL #42

This hereby amends the Judicial Code.

Be it enacted by the Senate of Emory & Henry College,

Emory & Henry College Judicial Code

Emory & Henry College Student Government seeks to provide an atmosphere in which intellectual, religious, moral, and social growth may take place and thus assist the student toward personal fulfillment and responsible participation in the modern world. To this end, the College seeks to insure freedom of inquiry and expression in teaching and learning. Since experience in total community is a part of the teaching-learning process, this freedom depends upon the appropriate opportunities and conditions in the classroom, on the campus, and throughout the College community. The administration, faculty, and Student Body therefore, have basic responsibilities toward realizing the purposes of Emory & Henry College through establishing programs and policies and setting standards of scholarship and conduct which are appropriate to these objectives.

Expectations of student conduct are defined in various College publications as well as communicated through groups and organizations of the College community by meetings, publications, and contracts. It is the student's obligation to conduct himself/herself as a responsible citizen, to abide by the stated rules and regulations of the College and to express himself/herself in an orderly manner.

Since the responsibility to secure and to respect general conditions conducive to the freedom to teach and to learn is shared by all members of the academic community, the statement of the judicial policies and procedures outlined below has been developed jointly by the students, faculty, and administration of Emory & Henry College. It is assumed that if these procedures are followed, the student will be protected from any unfair imposition of penalties and the purposes of the College will be more nearly realized.

Senate Bill No. 54

This legislation enacts a policy of equal opportunity for the Student Government, and the organizations that it charters.

Be it enacted by the Senate of Emory & Henry College,

I. Non – Discrimination Policy

As the Student Government of Emory & Henry College finds that discrimination in any form is contradictory to the advancement of the academic process, it has enacted the following policy of non-discrimination: The Student Government of Emory & Henry College, and every organization which it charters (save the exceptions cited in this document) shall not discriminate in membership, appointment to office, eligibility to stand for election, or in any other way on the basis of race, national or ethnic origin, sex, color, sexual orientation, religion, age, military service, disability, or disease status. This protection is intended to include students, faculty, and staff.

II. Scope of Legislation

This legislation shall be binding upon all officers, members, advisors, and bodies of the Student Government; all officers, advisors and members of chartered student organizations (save the exceptions cited in this document); and any other aspect of student life under the direct jurisdiction of the Student Government. This does include organizations jointly sponsored by the Student Government and some other branch of the College. It is not intended as a measure to change the overall College policy of non-discrimination and has no effect thereupon, although the Student Government urges the College to adopt a more inclusive policy than it currently espouses. To further encourage a review of the College's policy of non-discrimination, following its enactment, official copies of this legislation shall be delivered to the President of the College, the Presiding Officer of the Faculty, and the Chairperson of the Board of Trustees by an authorized representative of the Student Government.

III. Exemption/Special Status

In recognition of the longstanding tradition of some honorary academic fraternities and sororities, the social Greek fraternities and sororities, and certain other future organizations that may (at the time of chartering) be categorized by the Senate as exceptional under these regulations, the following conditional exemptions are made:

- A. Honorary Academic Organizations: Such organizations (ex. Blue Key and Cardinal Key) shall be exempt from the part of the policy that forbids discrimination on the basis of sex, so long as similar organizations exist for both male and females.
- B. Social Greek Organizations: Such organizations shall be exempt from the portion of the policy that forbids discrimination on the basis of sex, so long as similar organizations exist for both males and females. Further, we recognize the historic prerogative that such organizations have exercised in determining their own standards for membership, and that such standards are not public information. And while we do recognize that these groups must be afforded special status, we do encourage them to abide by both the letter and spirit of this legislation. In light of this fact, these organizations shall have the following options:
 - 1. Accept all of the obligations of this policy, including the following enforcement provisions, save the exemption of sex, in which case the status of the organization shall remain unchanged.
 - 2. Not accept the obligations of this policy, in which case the organization shall not be eligible to apply directly for any funding from the Student Government as other organizations do.

IV. Enforcement

The Student Government shall enforce this policy in the following manner:

- A. Complaints shall be filed with the Executive Branch (either the President or the Judicial/ Honor Affairs Department), or in the case of a complaint against the Executive Branch, the complaint shall be forwarded directly to the Chief Councilor of the Central Judicial Council by the complainant. Complaints shall be confidential.
- B. The case shall be forwarded to the Central Judicial Council for consideration. The Council shall consider the evidence surrounding the complaint in any way it so chooses, and shall determine if an act of discrimination (as defined by this legislation) occurred.
- C. If the Council finds that an act of discrimination did occur, then it shall impose sanctions upon the offender(s).
 - 1. Individual sanctions can include: removal from position within the organization (unless the individual is a constitutional officer of the Student Government where some other procedure is defined for removal), fines, and or educational or service sanctions.
 - 2. Organizational sanctions can include: suspension of organization's privilege of operating on campus, recommendation for revocation of charter to the College Senate, fines, removal of officers, and or educational or service sanctions.
- D. The complainant's identity shall be kept confidential outside of the hearing. Only the complainant may choose to reveal his or her identity.

The findings of the hearing, however, shall be kept confidential at the discretion of the accused party. Failure to abide by this regulation shall constitute a breach of the Honor Code.

Senate Bill # 57

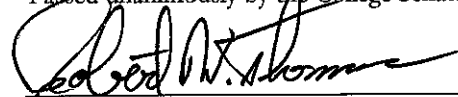

This legislation provides for sanctioning of Phi Gamma Phi Social Fraternity following the events of Alpha Beta Chi "Airband" on Thursday, April 19, 2001.

Be it enacted by the Senate of Emory & Henry College,

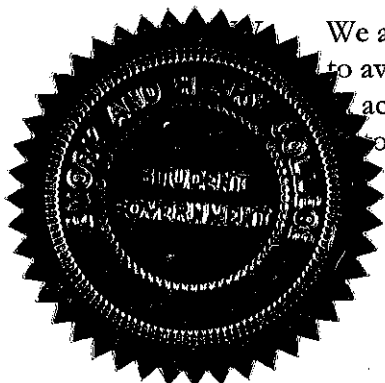

- I. Whereas Phi Gamma Phi Social Fraternity engaged in obscene and lascivious behavior at ABX "Airband" on the 19th of April 2001, while the fraternity was already on disciplinary probation, the College Senate is taking this action in responses to the concerns of the College Community.
- II. The behavior in question is deemed to be obscene, contrary to the educational mission of the College, an incitement of violence against women, and unbecoming of the image that should be presented by the Greek System, and the student body as a whole.
- III. As the organization in question has a documented history of violations of College policy, and is currently on probation for a recent incident, the Senate is resolved that it can no longer allow said organization to tarnish the image of the College, its Student Body, or its Greek System. Therefore, the following actions is to be effective immediately:
 - A. Phi Gamma Phi's Organizational Charter is hereby suspended for the Fall 2001 academic term. Accordingly, the organization may not operate in any capacity on this campus, hold a seat on the Greek Council, induct any new members, or participate in any campus activity or event in any capacity as an organization during the term.
 - B. Barring any further incidents may be fully re-instated based on the reevaluation of the College Senate no earlier than January 1, 2002. At that time, only members who have been inducted previous to the suspension shall be considered as members of the organization.
 - C. In the spring term of 2002, the organization will be placed on probation for a period of one full academic semester. During the period of probation, the organization will be allowed to induct a number a pledges specified by the Greek Council, none of which may be 1st Year Students.
 - D. Any further action which is deemed, by the Senate, to be contrary to the aims and goals of bettering the Emory & Henry College Community shall be grounds for an immediate and permanent termination of Phi Gamma Phi's Organizational Charter.

We also fully understand that suspending a charter is a serious action, and one we hope to avoid in the future. Although the Senate does not intend to make a habit of this type action, we find that the events in question cannot be ignored, and have thus required to act.

To Whom It May Concern:

I have vetoed Senate Bill Number 58, designed to amend the Greek Council Constitution for the following reason.

I believe that a fundamental right of the assembled Greek organizations is to choose their officers and representatives in a purely democratic manner. Time served prerequisites for officers on the council creates a situation in which the Greeks may be forced to have an officer that they do not support or endorse.

While there are many positive points to requiring people to have previously served in order to ensure competency, that is a barrier to democracy that we must not cross. We do not expect a Student Body President to have served in the Senate, Judiciary, or the Cabinet – and if we do not expect such from our Student Government leaders, we are wholly incorrect in expecting it from the Greek Council.

Sincerely,

Robert W. Thomas
President of the Student Body
